(Sixties music plays) Remember the sixties? That's when the U.S. Surgeon General warned us that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer, well, music's changed and now there's another warning from the U.S. Surgeon General: Radon causes lung cancer. Radon is an invisible gas that seeps into your home and it can cause lung cancer whether you smoke or not. The only way to now if radon is in your home is to have it tested. Call 1-800-SOS-RADON, that's 1-800-SOS-R-A-D-O-N, because radon problems can be fixed. Brought to you by this station and the U.S. EPA.
